

RETAIL therapy

Lighten up, says Shannon Denny, with translucent china, light Spring knits, indulgent shower gel and birds-inspired jewellery

Shine on

A proponent of the industrial style, Original BTC founder Peter Bowles manufactures updated classics and original lighting designs that are inspired by factory fittings, childhood toys and iconic 1940s design. The unassuming Hector floor lamp has a delicately translucent bone china shade available in white, blue or green for £159.

Holloways of Ludlow, 121
Shepherd's Bush Road W6 7LP,
020 7602 5757

Bird's life

The creation of Natalie Leon, Passionate About Vintage brings together a love of all things vintage with a certain flair for design. Each handcrafted piece of jewellery is made from beads and components sourced from all over the globe, many of which are over 50 years old. Pink earrings with a hint of Victorian nostalgia make our hearts flutter.

£45. Browse further designs at Damsel, 11a,
Devonshire Road W4 2EU, 020 8987 8571

Woolly thinking

By raising their own sheep and using only natural fibres farmed in the UK, fashion label Makepiece produces beautiful clothing that's sustainable, low-impact and eco-friendly. Their signature techniques stretch knitwear to its limits, incorporating felted lace, ruching and ripples, sheer open knits and filmy soft layers.

Find the spring collection at Eco Age, 213
Chiswick High Road W4 2DW, 020 8995 7611

Buff up

Love Me Naked is a super natural body wash free from baddies – you'll find no sodium lauryl sulfate, parabens or petrochemicals lurking within. Bursting with antioxidants to help protect and soothe, its rose extracts provide a truly addictive scent, £3.99.

Boots Chemist, 36 Ealing
Broadway, The Broadway W5 5JY,
020 8567 0641

